COMMUNITY formation

Grace Seen (Acts 11:19-30)

Mission genius George Wieland will be talking on Acts 11: 19-30. In the strange new Jesus community started by refugees in Syria, Barnabas "saw the grace of God." How? What exactly did he see? And where do we see the grace of God in our faith communities today?

to nurture creativity, celebrate diversity, and increase participation (beyond singing). So, here's my question: Do you have a gift that might enrich our worship? Are you a visual artist? Do you write poetry? Do you perform spoken word? Can you plan the cello? Do you have some other skill or gift that could enrich our worship? If so, could you please let me know? Our plan is to compile, for those who are curating our worship times, a big list of the resources in our community. Let me know what you can offer and I'll pass this on to our worship leaders, who may then invite you to help out very occasionally. Don't worry: you won't end up on a roster. But you might end up sharing your gift as a member of the body—for the benefit of us all. Thanks. —John.

WORD & WORLD Preaching Seminar

The Carey Chapel was overflowing last Thursday with attendees for the World and World preaching seminar with Paul Windsor. Over 100 veteran and budding preachers came to learn about the mechanics, convictions and techniques of preaching and to take away practical skills to enhance their preaching in their particular context.

course and guest Chinese lecturer, Dr Mei Chung from Melbourne, was on site to teach the block course in Chinese World Religions.

It was a busy few days on campus!!

As you get used to writing exegesis assignments at Carey, sometimes you just need to commit to diving into the ancient world. What an opportunity it is to dive into this with this excellently planned trip led by the most-brilliant Sarah Harris.

Attending this trip to Israel in 2017 opened my eyes to many things. Among these realizations came...

- a better understanding of the power in Jesus' words about being the living water (John 4:14)– the source of water that continuously flows in such a heated area.
- the politics that the early Church was up against as they choose Christ over the Roman empire. You can see this dominating power in the architecture at places like Beit She'an and Caesarea.
- the beautiful scene of seeing the resurrected Jesus prepare fish for his disciples on the sunny shores of the sea of Galilee (John 21:1-14).

The trip was certainly worth the sacrifice of saving financially for it. You'll meet some awesome people too. Make the most of the opportunity and do it!!! Contact Sarah Harris for more info sarah.harris@carey.ac.nz.
