

OPEN DAY

Thanks so much for joining us on Open Day and making our visitors feel welcome. For many our warm genuine community was their highlight.

It was also great to meet some of our distance students already studying at Carey! If you've never been on Campus please feel free at any stage to pop in and join us.

COMMUNITY formation

CHAPEL THIS WEEK:

Church at its Best
Sandy Kerr will be speaking in Chapel this week

COMMUNITY LUNCHES

(12.30pm Monday | 12pm Tuesday)

Lunch is happening this Monday and Tuesday. Join us for good kai and good company.

WEDNESDAY PRAYERS

(Carey Chapel 12.40pm - 1pm)

Kathryn Heard is leading us in Chapel this week. Let's come together and pray for one another, reflecting on the unending love of God amongst it all.

TE KUPU O TE WIKI Māori word of the week

Ngā manaakitanga

It means blessings or "God bless" on someone else. You could also use this when saying goodbye to someone.

OTHER EVENTS coming up

Māori Achievement Dinner – 23 November

I was nearly 5, wrapped for a frosty morning, fair hair in plaits. My Dad drove the tractor across the paddock and angus cows jogged behind. Fixing a light hook to the steering wheel, he called me to the tractor seat to hold the wheel steady while he stood on the trailer flicking hay off with a pitch fork.

'I'm driving the tractor,' I marvelled. (Of course this was long back. Children aren't allowed on tractors these days.) 'But look at those gate-posts. I have to get between them.' Fear gripped me.

'Dad,' I shouted back, 'we're getting to a gate. I can't do it.'

'Yes you can. I fixed it right for you.'

I held my breath. 'Am I going to bang into a post?' Br-r-r-r rumbled the tractor...

'I did it!' I breathed in relief. My father grinned approvingly. His little girl had driven through the gate—though the secret was the direction he had set me in.

It can be like that as believers. We fear what lies ahead yet our trustworthy Guide has set us up to succeed. Paul wrote, 'Being confident of this, that he who began a good work in you will carry it on to completion' (Phil 1:6).
