We have four lambs this year—Bob, Stuart, Kevin and Bruce (named after Minions of course). They are so much fun to watch. The tiniest one often challenges the largest one to a ramming fight only to be rescued by his overprotective mother ... when he was the one to start the fight!! No fence seems to keep in their slender bodies and no sooner are they through the fence do they want to get back. Their diverse personalities, confidence levels, and bounciness provide hours of entertainment.

Our creator God takes pleasure in watching us learn and grow, guides when we are stuck and often fights our battles. I wonder what he thinks when we get ourselves in a pickle, only wanting to get back to where we started.

Repeatedly in scripture we read of Jesus the good shepherd loving, knowing, caring and sacrificing for us. May you be reminded of this great love in your study, walks in creation, workplace or maybe even at the dinner table!!!
